

Coyote cools off

A coyote walks into a Quiznos in downtown Chicago and climbs into the beverage cooler.

Workers at Chicago Animal Care and Control named the coyote Adrian.

"City workers capture 10 to 15 coyotes every year, especially in the spring when they are most active," said Anne Kent, director of Chicago Animal Care and Control.

Coyote stops to rest in Chicago sandwich shop. Herald Times Online. April 4, 2007.